What is MGS?

The Mississippi Governor's School (MGS) was established in 1981 at Mississippi University for Women (MUW) by university faculty and administration along with Governor William F. Winter. The program is designed to provide academic, creative, and leadership experiences for a select number of rising high school juniors and seniors who have demonstrated exceptional ability and achievement in their studies and who show high intellectual, creative, and leadership potential.

Challenging!

A major part of the MGS experience is the coursework. Unique classes are offered in a wide variety of interest fields from humanities, science and mathematics, to fine and performing arts.

Where else would you find major courses like "Physics for Poets" or "Fluid Mechanics and Aerodynamics?" Interest area courses are also taught ranging from Debate and Theatre to Time Travel.

Why Come?

"It will be the best 3 weeks of your life."
- MGS Scholar

Experience:

MGS is an opportunity to try new things and to meet and work with other participants from all over the state who share similar interests.

This is an experience participants never forget. They truly do become a family, making friendships that will last a lifetime.

College Credit:

MGS Scholars, upon completion of the three week program, are awarded a certificate three hours of elective honors credit to apply toward a university degree.

Cost-Free!

Tuition, room and board, field trips, and other MGS activities are provided without any cost to participants. Incidental spending money and coins for laundry are the only expense. Funding for MGS is provided by the Mississippi State Legislature.
