Administrative/Biographical Notes: Mississippi School for Mathematics and Science is a state funded institute created in 1988 to serve as an economic development tool to attract gifted students and produce highly educated workers. To ensure this, the entrance requirements include several essays, a resume, an independent work project, an ACT score of 28 or higher, four letters of recommendation, and an interview. This ensures that only the best and brightest of Mississippi's students attend MSMS, from all 82 counties. MSMS offers advance courses in mathematics, science, arts, logic, and offer many college courses for Seniors.

There are five primary buildings associated solely with MSMS, and not MUW which it resides in. The three educational buildings are; the Hooper Academic Building, where the majority of classes are held; the Shackelford Academic Building, for history, social science, and visual arts; and the Performing Arts Center. There are two dorms on MUW's campus for MSMS students to reside during the school year, Frazer Hall and Goen Hall.

MSMS has had several directors since its founding. Johnny Franklin was the first Director of MSMS in its founding year of 1988. Then in 1993, Michael Neyman was chosen as his replacement. Mr. Neyman would serve as Director till 2001, when Dr. Joseph Portera became the new Executive Director of MSMS. Dr. Portera would not serve as long as his predecessor, for Miss Carol Alderman replaced him in 2005. She would serve until 2008 school year, which was under the leadership of Mr. Charles Brown. In 2013, the current Director, Dr. Germain McConnell, assumed his role as MSMS's director in charge of both long and short term planning for the school.
